Description

Founded in 1990 when Michael Schmidt acquired a boatyard in Greifswald, Germany, and debuting just shortly after, in 1993, at the Hamburg Boat Show, Hanse Yachts made a strong entry to the sailing scene with their model, the Hanse 291, gaining immediate attention for the self-tacking jib it was equipped with, and for its affordability. Collaborating with designers like Judel/Vrolijk & co. Hanse produced award-winning sailboats known for speed, comfort, and modern design, and by the 2000s Hanse had already established itself globally for its innovative and easy-to-handle yachts. Today, Hanse Yachts remains a leader in German-engineered sailboats. The 2007 Hanse 430e is a performance cruising sailboat designed for coastal and offshore sailing. The epoxy hull provides durability and excellent handling, making it suitable for long passages or short day sails. With a self-tacking jib and an optimized deck layout it's easy to manage, whether single-handed or with a small crew. The interior offers three cabins and generous living space, accommodating families or groups comfortably. This sailboat is an ideal and reliable, fast, comfortable vessel for extended trips or weekend outings.
